High-performance

You can't afford to compromise on connection

Comtec's philosophy is simple – always partner with the best. That's why we connected with Stäubli, the world-leading manufacturer of quick connector systems. Whether you need standard quick couplings or highly specialised connectors for all types of circuits and applications – Stäubli sets the benchmark.

Fluids, gases, hydraulic and power supplies

Whatever drives your connector system, Stäubli understands exactly what you need, taking into account the distinct characteristics of the fluid or gas you're handling. Count on superior performance whether you need clean break, safety or full-flow couplings.

Our standard and specialised products include:

- quick connect couplings
- a wide variety of seals
- numerous valve and locking technologies
- special options including key coding
- manual and automatic multi-couplings
- quick mould change systems
- robotic tool changers

Through our partnership with Stäubli, Comtec offers single and centralised connections for a wide range of specialised industries.
